INTRODUCTION

This work is submitted to the public in good faith, and that the number of people interested in this genealogy may learn in what way those bearing the name "Helmuth" are related to each other. Although this genealogy refers only to the lineal descendants in general of the late Friedrich Helmuth, there was much time and energy spent to gather up information as to the possibilities of relationship between the above named and the Helmuth tribe, who have also been in this country for many years, and tradition has it that they formerly hailed from Baden, Germany. From what I could learn heretofore, I would advise strongly against the impression which I have heard put in words many times from youth to the advancement of this work, that there were no Helmuth in the United States but what were related to each other, which in a sense of word may be true, the same as being related to Adam and Eve.

Furthermore, I (the author) spent a day in Indianapolis, Ind., where I gathered in all the information I could possibly get my hands on, and these were very fine and respectful people, and liberal in handing over all they knew of their ancestors, and were advanced in years enough that I did not care to search further. The eldest there being Joe J. Helmuth past 70, and the widow of his brother Frank, who died several years ago with the rare disease called "Hodges," lives there, also several boys and girls.

Then there are several families of their relatives in the vicinity of Chillicothe, Ohio, Cincinnati also has a few Helmuths, namely Ludwig at the Bethesda home for the aged. Marion and Charles are in the outskirts of the city, but registered there. Elizabeth Fessenden, Tulsa, Oklahoma, is also a sister to Joe J., of Indianapolis. I was also informed of a Dr. Wm. Tod Helmuth in New York City, quite an old man now, and is a son of Dr. Wm. Tod Helmuth (deceased) also of New York City. Now while all these Helmuths spell their name the same in the United States, I was informed by Joe J. Helmuth of Indianapolis, that at the time of emigration they spelled their name with two l's, or Hellmuth, while 142 years ago, or Nov. 30, 1791, Johannes Helmuth's marriage was recorded and spelled with one l. Henceforth I am gratified in saying that the relationship is slim and far between. I was also informed of a Helmuth living between Fisher and Foosland, Illinois, and a personal trip made there revealed the fact that their name was Helmick, and not Helmuth.

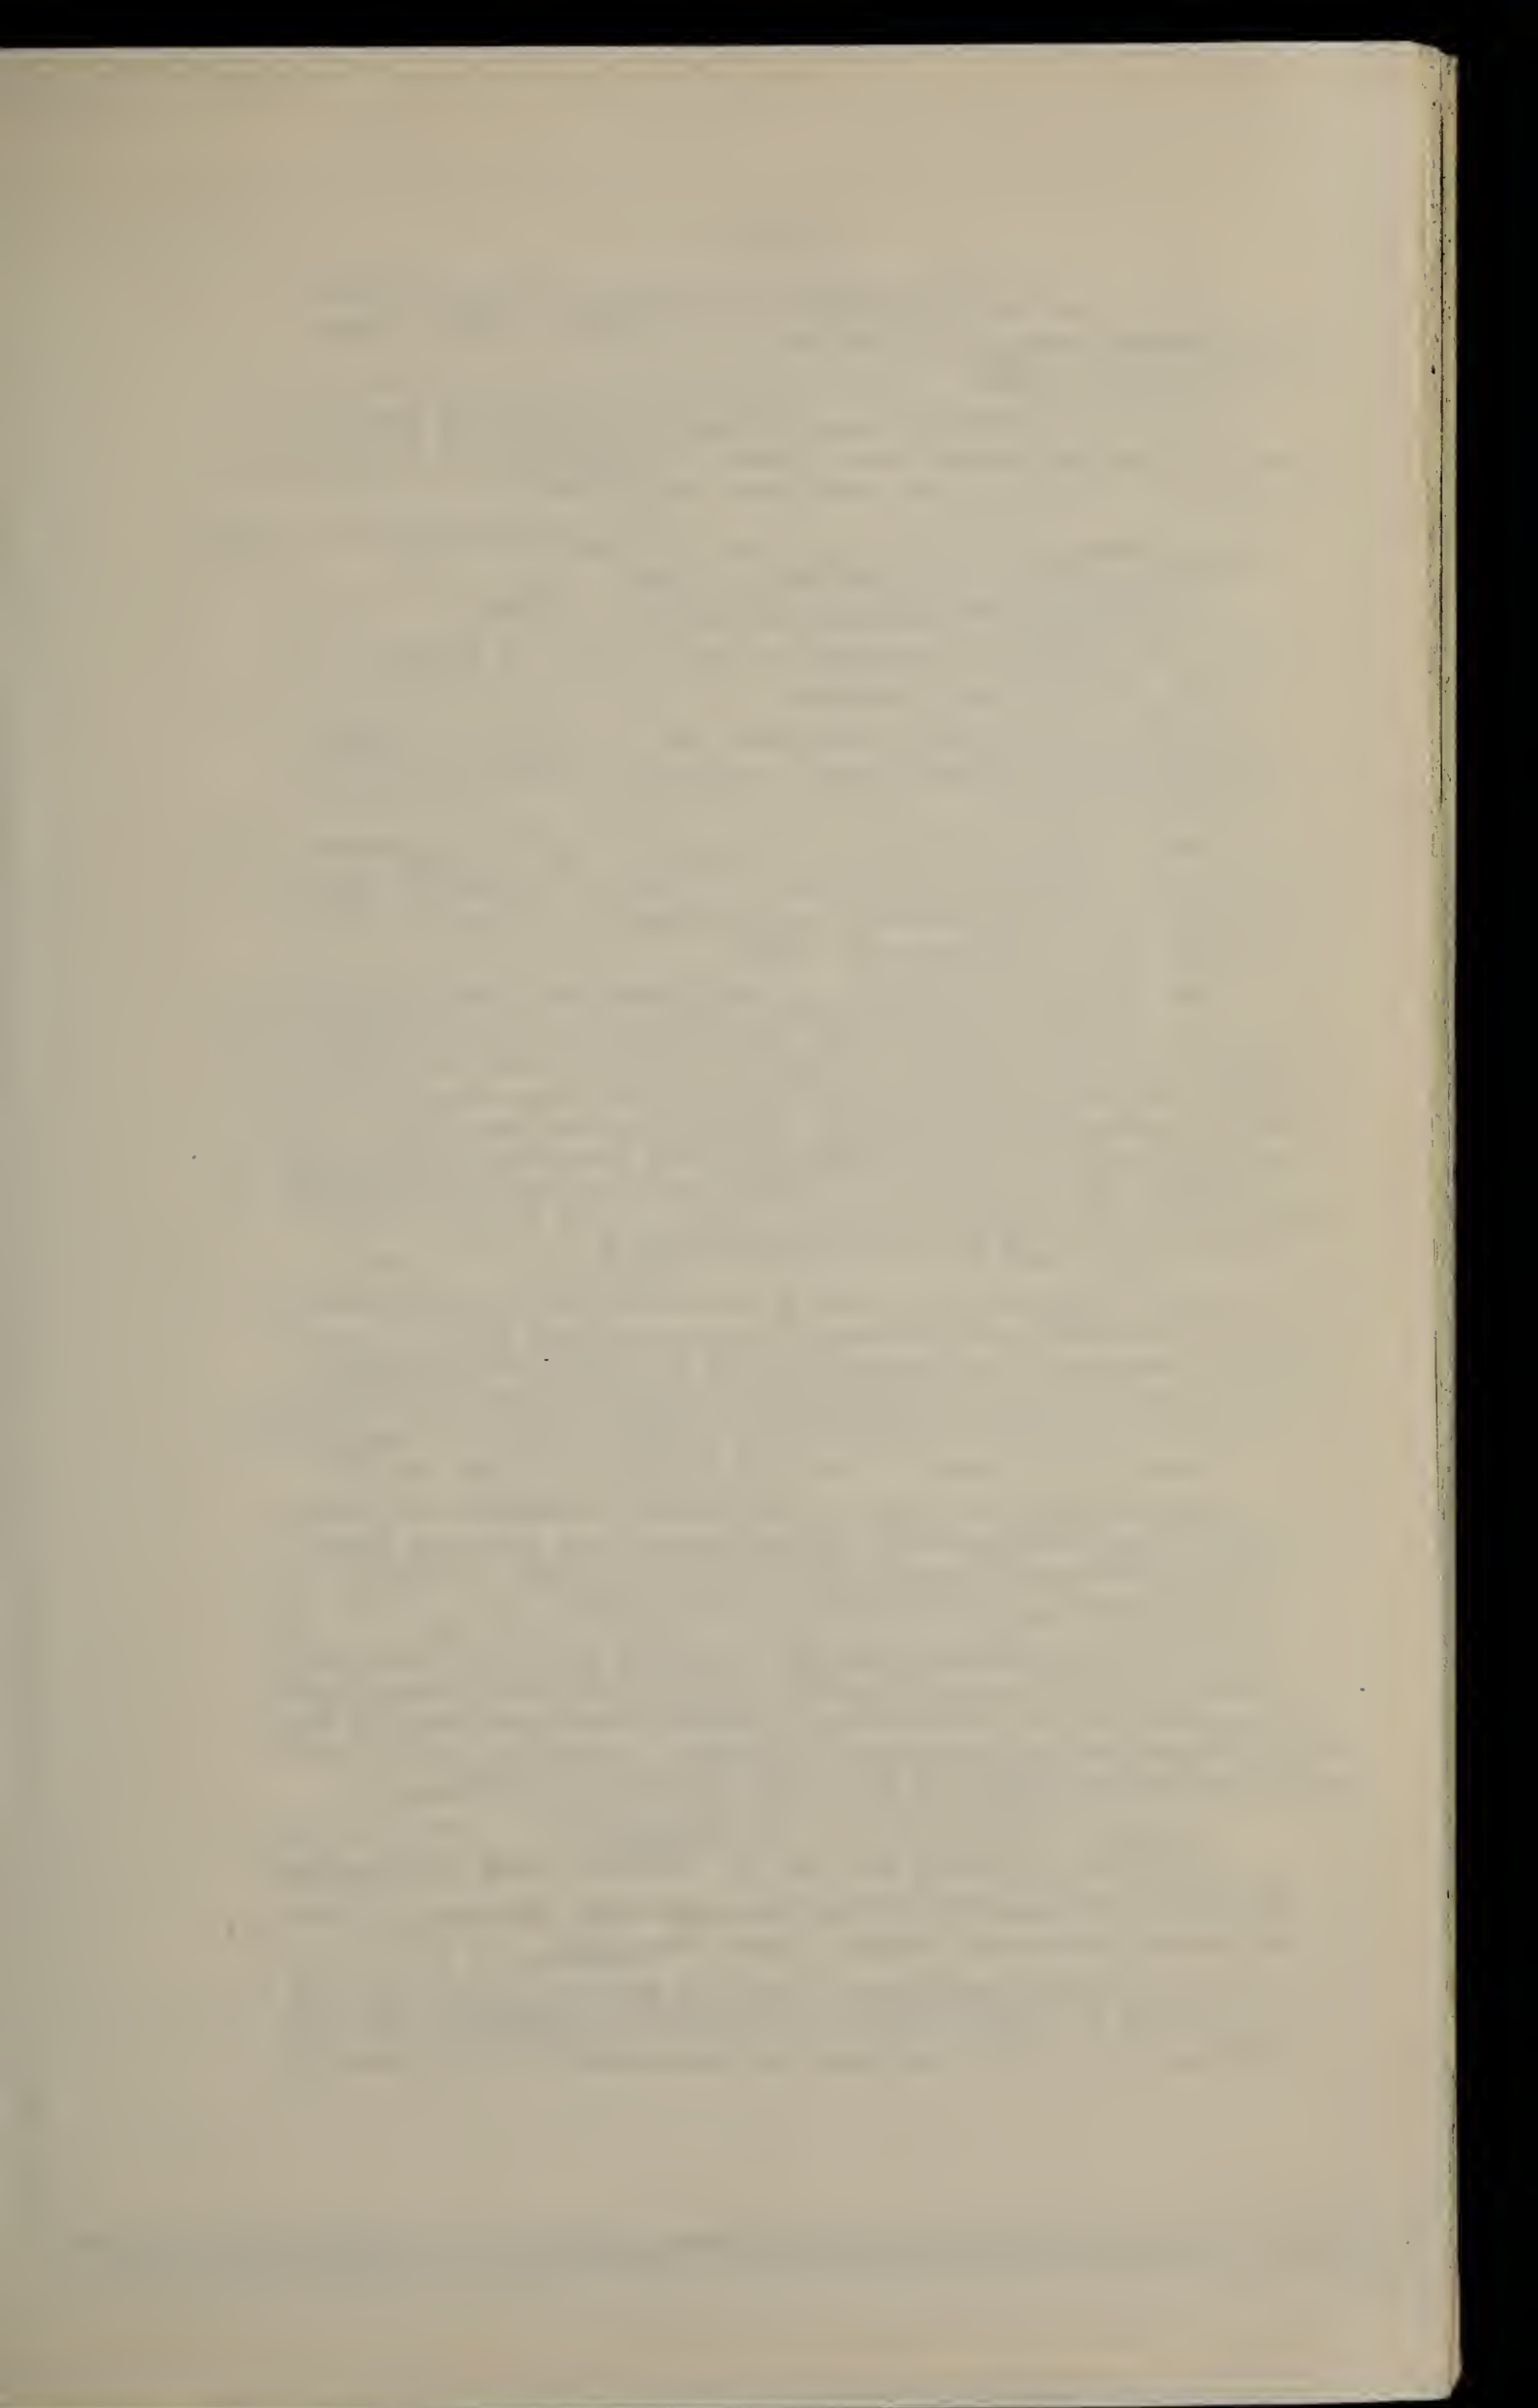

My wish for a family history has been growing for possibly 20 years or more, but at that early date I did not expect to be confronted with the compiling of the same, which I feel like and hope it is about ended now, except the criticisms which often follow from the various mistakes which so easily occur in listing reports and copying reports off of almost unreadable papers, while the best alone does not always avoid mistakes, my strenuous efforts were to give dates of birth, death and marriage, and of church affiliation as nearly correct as possible, and I very kindly thank those who sent in their records and helped to get records of others.

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH P. HELMUTH, Author,

Arthur, Illinois, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 1.

D. Grady - $ 8.50

John (Johannes) Helmuth was married to Johanetti Elizabeth Himmelmänn, the daughter of Fredrick Himmelmänn, November 30, 1791

John was a cloth weaver by trade from Kassel, and his wife, Elizabeth's father, was a Baker (Bakeryman) in Mengerhausen. Their children were born as follows:

1st Johann Friedrich Ernst, born October 13, 1792.

2nd Friedrich, born October 8, 1794.

3rd George Friedrich, born January 14, 1799.

Later Johannes and Johanne Elizabeth the parents to above 3 children were divorced.

4th November 12th, 1803 a son was born to the estranged wife of Johannes Helmuth and a sargeant quade, named Karl Friedrich Wilhelm.

5th April 15, 1808, a son was born to the estranged wife of Johannes Helmuth and names the father "Stremme" from Corbach. Name of this child was Andreas, born April 15, 1808 and died single November 15, 1837.

The above information was furnished and forwarded to the corresponding archivist by the Obersekretar Lang Mengerhausen, Walteck State, Germany, and wish to call the attention of the readers to the fact of their being no Elizabeth (child) named in this family, although it does not give the birth date of the father (Johannes) and would not have been impossible for him to have married before marrying "Elizabeth Himmelmänn" and might possibly have had a family which if he did, they would be half brother or sister.

I was informed of a Lydia Lint of Waterloo, Ia., who married a "Martin Grady" born in Germany, July 20, 1837, near Larr, Zierenberg, the son of Bernhart and Elizabeth (Helmuth) Grady, but can find nothing to date to satisfy myself in thinking that this Elizabeth Grady was Friedrich's sister, or that she ever came to the states. I am very doubtful whether she did.

It could also have been possible that Johannes married another woman after they were divorced, but not very likely, that a child would have come to the states with the boy's in 1817, at least she would have been very young.

In case anyone should want to search this work back any farther. The German Consulate General informs me that Mengerhausen is a little village situated between 51 and 52 degrees Latitude and at about 24 degrees Longitude and belongs to the official district of the U. S. Consulate of Koeln.

Friedrich Helmuth, the son of Johannes and Johanne Elizabeth (Himmelmänn) Helmuth was born October 8, 1794 in Mengerhausen, Walteck State, Germany.

In the year 1817 he emigrated to America at the age of 23, landing in Philadelphia. He was accompanied by a brother George, who is later mentioned in this work.

Moses Disappears: I find there are numerous rumors that differ considerably of the disappearance of Moses (the 3rd child of Frederick Helmuth in family No. 1). To the best of knowledge I could gather in, I would varify the letter wrote by Noah (a son of Frederick) who states that on February 20th, 1830 Moses disappeared and was never seen any more. George met with fatal injuries on Saturday evening of October 29, 1932, about 5 o'clock p. m. while attempting to grind feed with a 10-20 Titan tractor belted on a Fordson grinder. Being rather late already and the clutch slipped so he could not make full headway grinding, then he pulled out the clutch, stopping the grinder and belt pulley, but left motor running and attempted with a bar to pry between cast balance knob (which is riveted on pulley) and the clutch band bolt in order to screw the nut down a little more, and by so doing, was the same as pushing in the clutch, and after the power commenced pulling on the clutch, his weight on the bar caused the disastrous and sudden hold of the clutch to hurl him to the concrete floor, falling on the side of his head enough to cause cerebral hemorrhage. He got up and with aid of his wife walked to the house where a few small cuts were dressed and changed clothes, as the terrible blow had almost riddled his clothes, then was asked about getting a doctor, but he stated that he needed no doctor, but wanted to go finish grinding feed, so he walked out by himself and helped his brother Albert start the tractor and a little later he went to the house, where pain began to overcome him, suffering considerably for 20 or 30 minutes until he lost consciousness, which he never regained. He laid in a stupor till 12:30 Sunday morning when he passed away. He was buried November 1, 1932 and laid to rest in the Yoder cemetery, age 37 years, 10 months and 6 days.

Short Sketch Of George Helmuth Of Canada

George Helmuth (a brother to Friedrich) the subject of this book was born in Mengerlinghausen, Waldeck State, Germany, January 14, 1799, and according to his registry record in Mengerlinghausen his full name was George Friedrich.

There seems to be a little confusion in some of these dates and birth places, so it will also be given as the Helmuths gave it in Canada, as follows, Geo. Helmuth was born in Hessen, Darmstadt, Germany, in 1801, (No given date) but records were searched about March 10, 1932, by the Hessisches Staatsarchiv im Schloss, Darmstadt, Germany over a period of 10 years namely from 1800 to 1810 and find only one Helmuth registered there in the 10 years mentioned, that was an unmarried daughter of Mary Helmuth, who was a daughter of Jacob Helmuth.

Later about June 15, 1933 the records were searched in Mengerlinghausen by this above mentioned company, with the aid of secretary Lang in Mengerlinghausen and found it to be his birth place instead of Darmstadt.

Upon arrival in the states after landing in Pennsylvania George parted from his brother Friedrich and tradition has it that he never saw him afterwards.

In 1825 he emigrated to Wilmot Twp., Canada, where in 1826 he married Magdalena Bienneman, (who also was born in Germany). They first lived on a farm near Baden, about 12 miles from Tavistock, Ontario, and later moved to a point about 2 miles from Tavistock, which was since considered as the old homestead. There the parents died and were buried in an abandoned little nondenominational cemetery on the 15th line East Zoria Township about 4 miles from Tavistock and situated in Oxford County, in which also the old Homestead is situated.

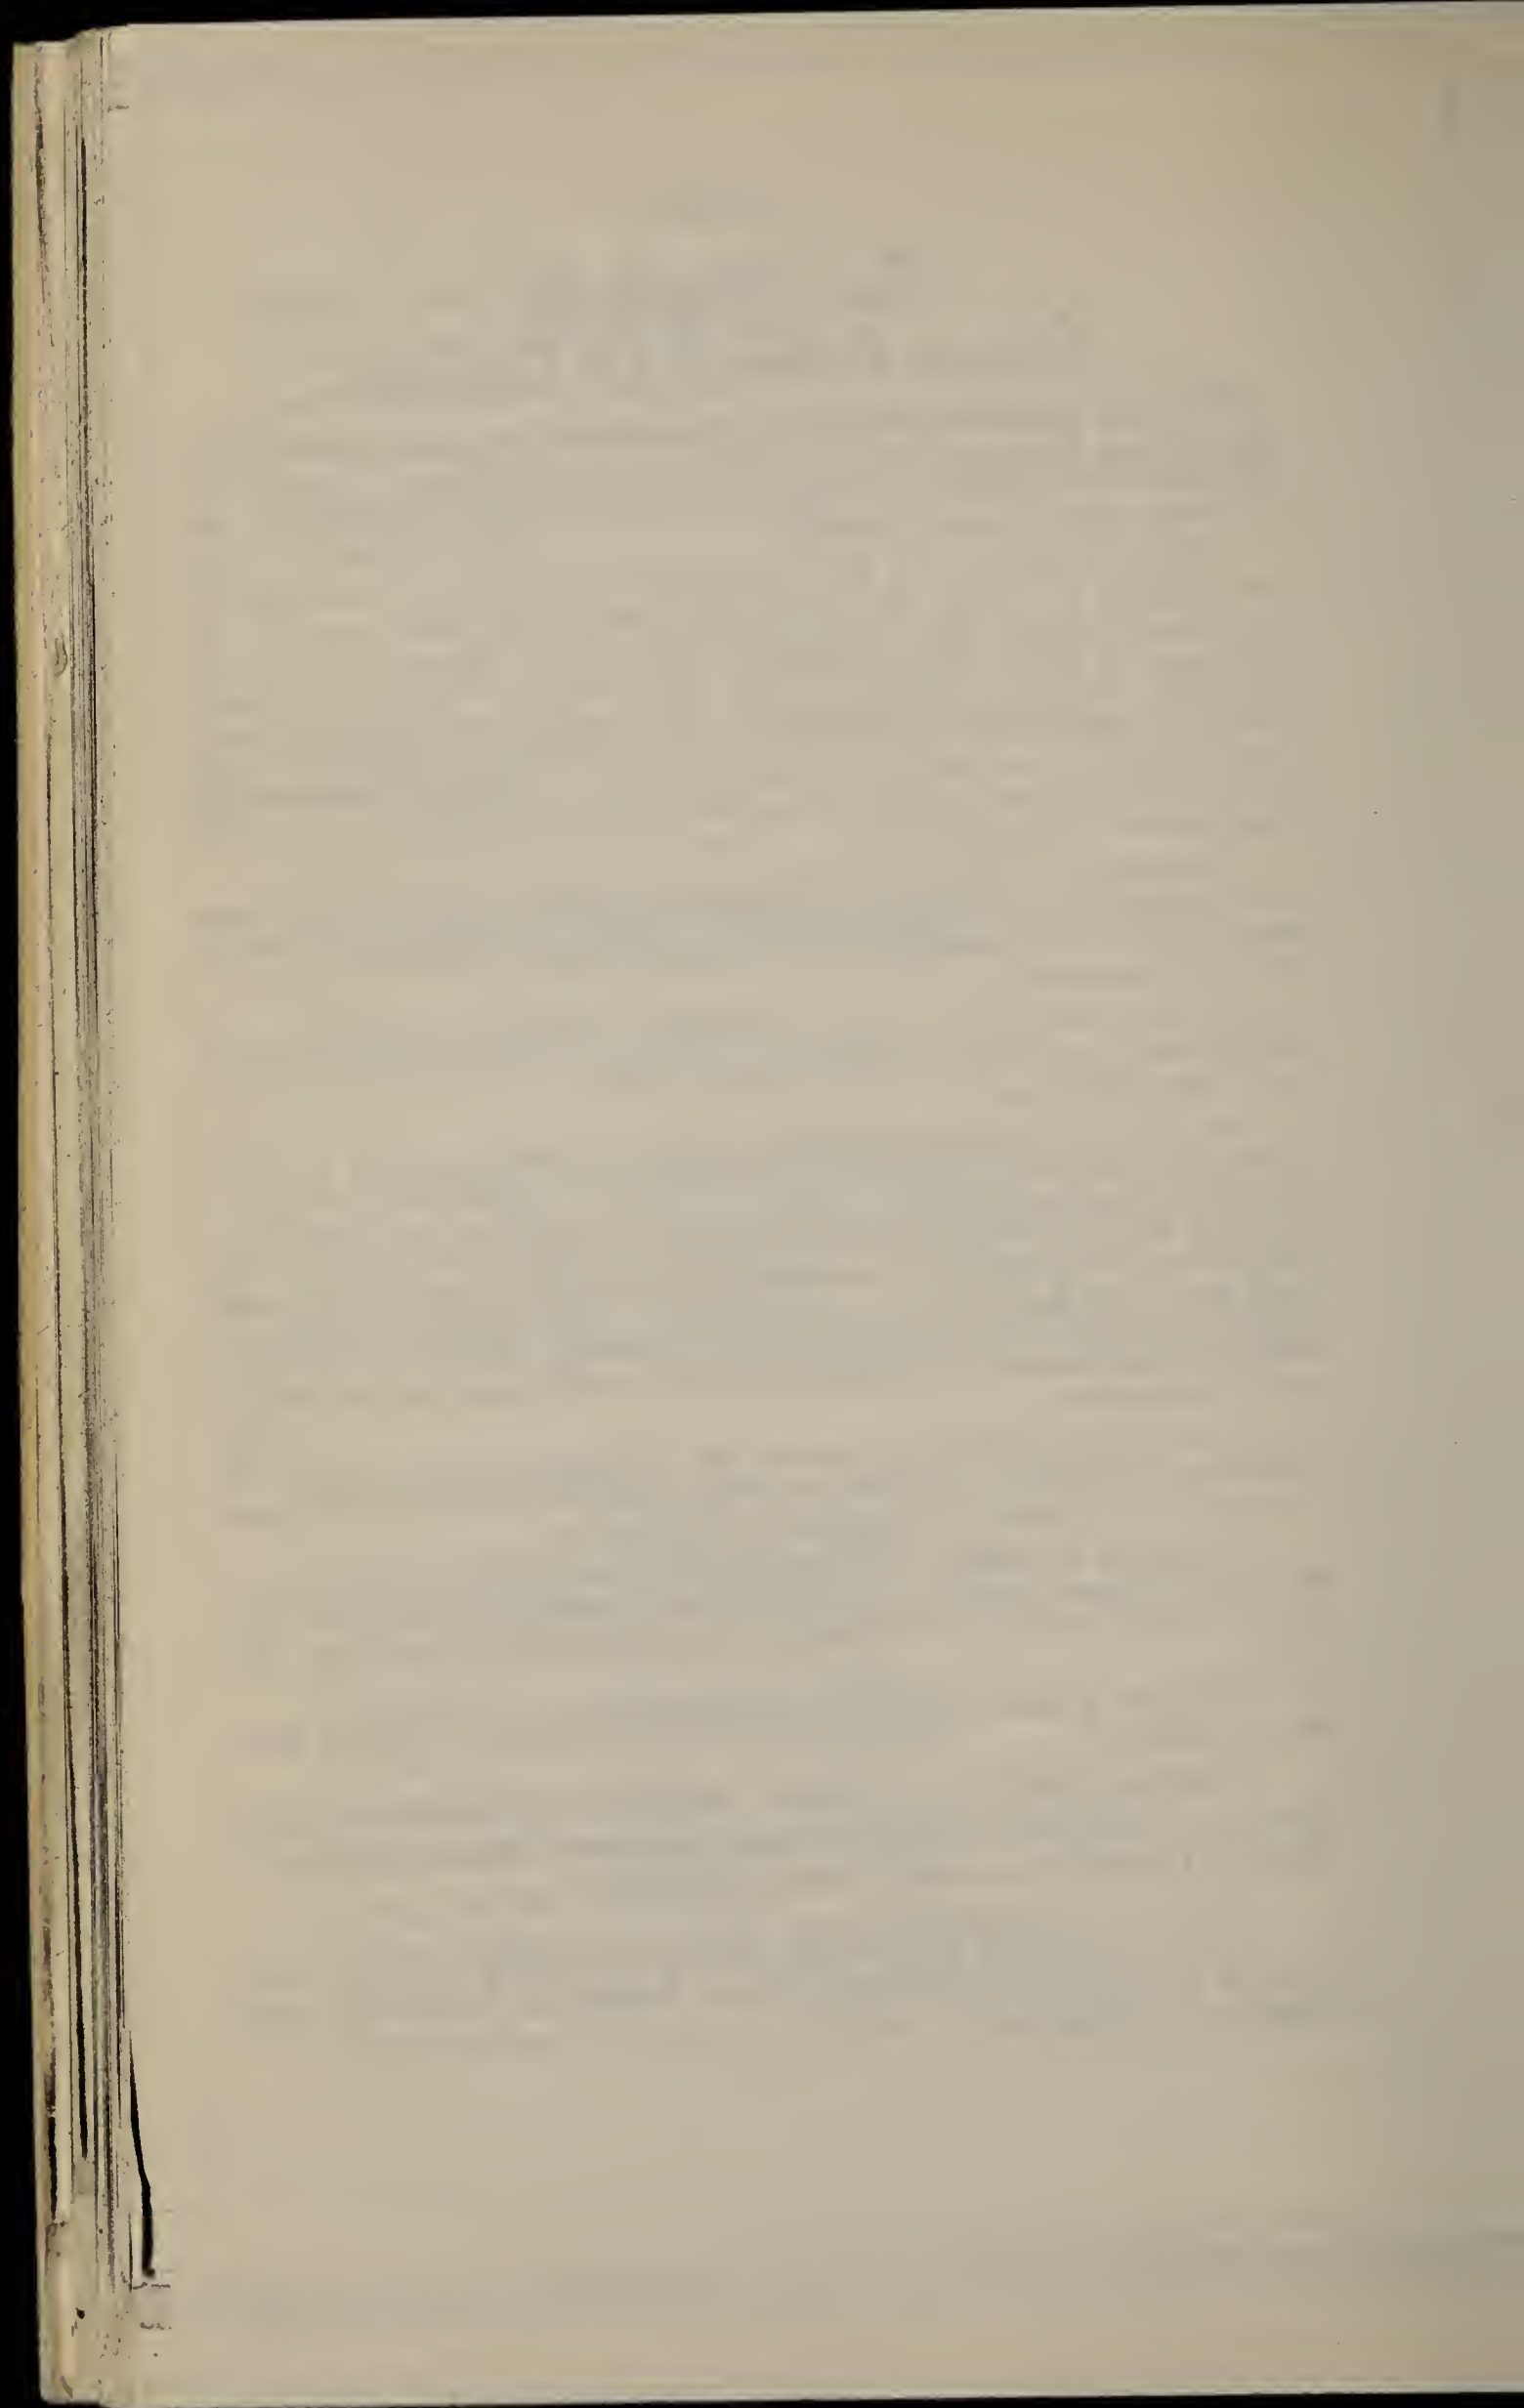

After the death of the parents the homestead was occupied by Christian G. Helmuth, until his death June 24, 1905. Today this farm is owned and occupied by one Louis Wettlaufer.

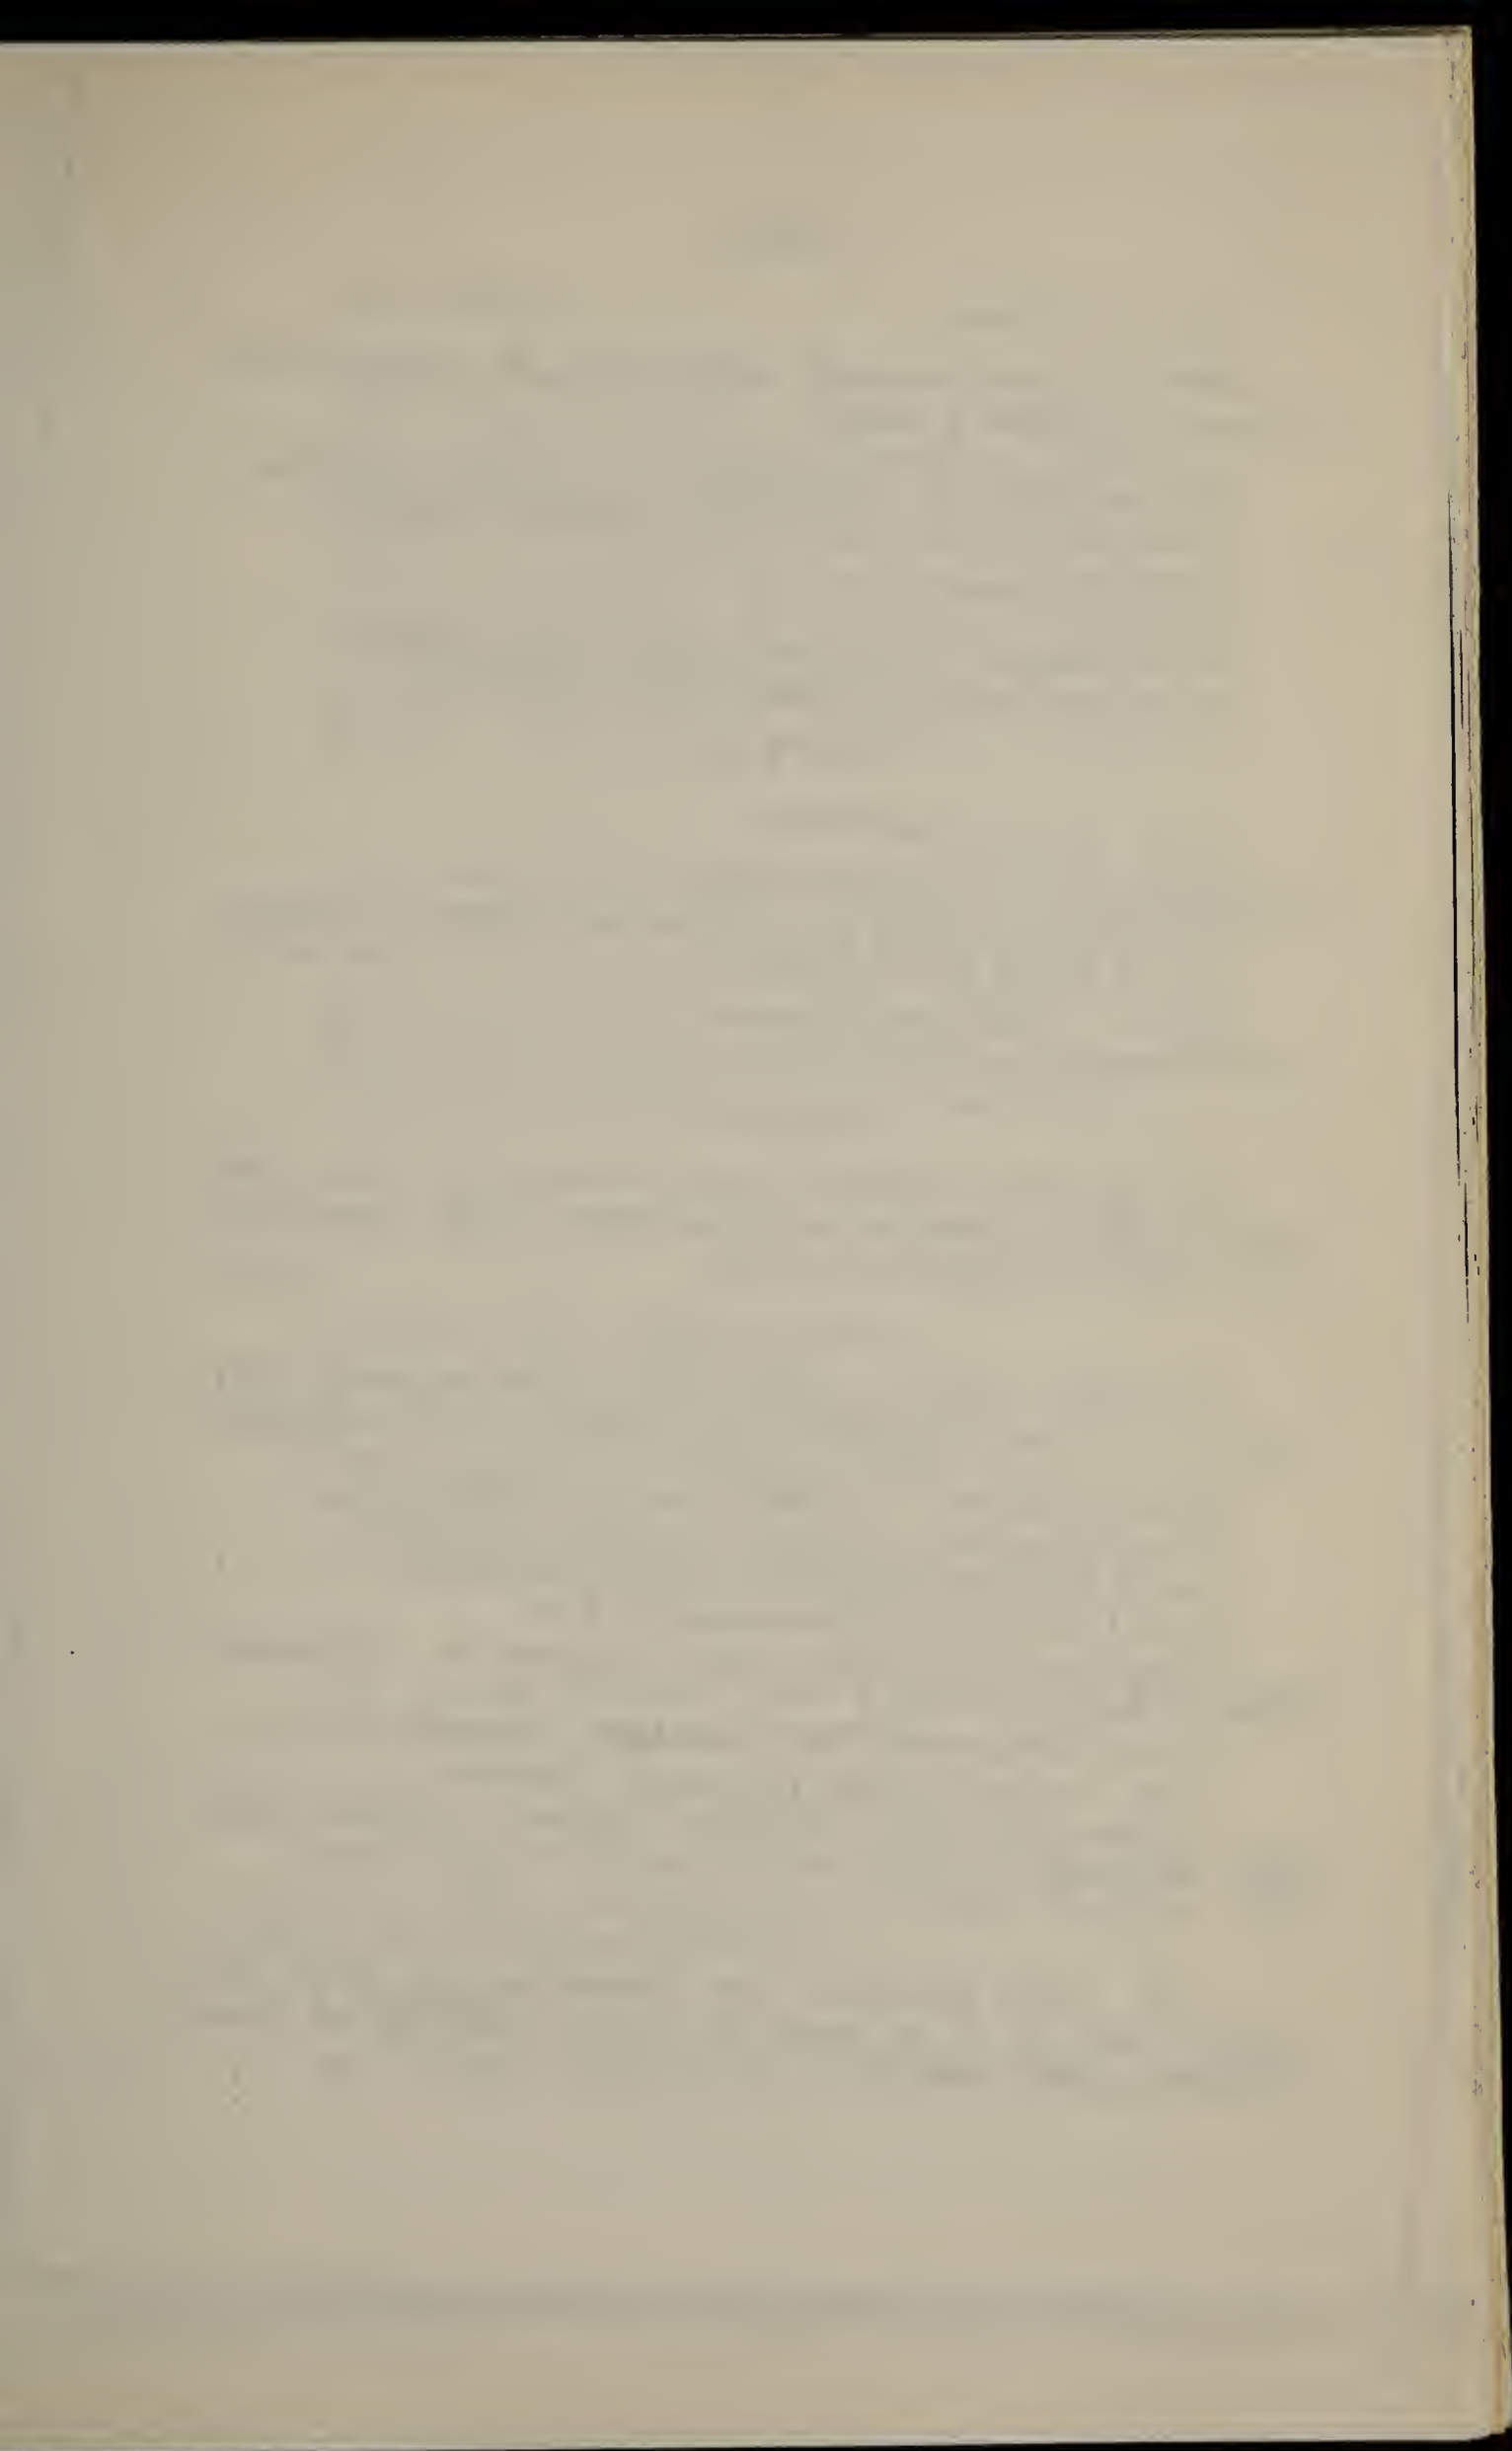

The name Helmuth in Canada as far as the male line is concerned has its future only on practically two families, one of the late Noah Helmuth and Mose Helmuth, a son of Daniel Helmuth (deceased).
